Conversation With Dave Rubin

By Yoram Hazony, April 28, 2019

I was in Los Angeles on April 1 and had the pleasure of being hosted by Dave Rubin on his show. We talked about nationalism, being conservative, what's happening to the universities, free speech, life in Israel, bravery, and more. I was especially intrigued by Dave's description of the underground movement away from liberalism in his circles and toward a more conservative politics. You can watch the interview, which was released April 24, 2019, here:
